Jewish Care

Jewish Care (the largest health and social care organisation serving the Jewish community in London and the south east of England) have just become partners of Timebanking UK.

As well as setting up time banks across their community and care centres, they'll also be trialling it within their own organisation a staff-to-staff support model, building the concept of mutuality into every area of their work.

For more information go to: <http://www.jewishcare.org/>

Localskillswap

The idea of Localskillswap is very much in keeping with the ideas of timebanking, in that you swap your skills (or produce/products) with people in your area; the focus is on "local".

If you'd like to find out more, or meet with your local scheme, please see their website for more information: <http://www.localskillswap.com/>

International

Vico from Time Bank Milan is really keen to take the first step on creating a TBI (Time Banks International!)

He wants to start with an international bulletin which lists offers/requests for exchanging ideas, experience, languages etc.

You can send Vico anything for submission by emailing him: vicohemsi@libero.it

He'll also be at the gathering of French time banks from 17th - 23rd August in Carpentras (email Francis francis.beausel@wanadoo.fr if you'd like to attend)
